When I look back upon my childhood, there rises before me as it were a submerged world of radiance and sunshine. We all loved our home in Potsdam and Berlin just as every child does who is cherished and cared for by loving hands. So, too, the joys of our earliest childhood were, for sure, the same as the joys of every happy and alert German lad. Whether a boy's sword is of wood or of metal, whether his rocking horse is covered with calfskin or modestly painted—this, at bottom, is all one to the child's heart; it is the symbol of diminutive manliness—the sword or the horse itself—that makes the boy happy. We played the same boyish tricks as every other German boy—except, perhaps, that we spoiled better carpets and dearer furniture.

As far as I can remember, the center of our existence has been our dearly beloved mother. She has radiated a love which has warmed and comforted us. Whatever joy or sorrow moved us, she always had for it understanding and sympathy. All that was best in our childhood, nay, all the best that home and family can give, we owe to her. And what she was to us in our early youth, that she has remained throughout our adolescence and our manhood. The kindest and best woman is she for whom living means helping, succoring and self-expenditure in the interests of others; and such a woman is our mother.

(These memoirs were written before the death of the kaiserin, which occurred April 11, 1921.)

By Presence of Kaiser.

The relations between us children and our father were totally different. He was always friendly and, in this way, loving towards us; but, by the nature of things, he had none too much time to devote us. As a consequence, in reviewing our early childhood, I can discover scarcely a scene in which he joins in our childish games with unconstrained mirth or happy abandon. If I try now to explain it to myself, it seems to me as though he was unable so to divest himself of the dignity and superiority of the mature adult man as to enable him to be properly young with us little follows.

Hence, in his presence, we always retained a certain embarrassment, and the occasional laxity of tone and expression adopted in moments of good humor with the manifest purpose of gaining our confidence rather tended to abash us. It may have been, too, that we felt him so often to be absent from us in his thoughts when present with us in body. That rendered him almost impersonal, absent minded and often alien to our young hearts.

My sister is the only one of us who succeeded in her childhood in gaining a snug place in his heart. Moreover, all sorts of otherwise unaccustomed restraints were experienced at his hand. When, for instance, we entered his study—a thing which never exactly pleased him—we had to hold our hands behind us lest we might knock something off one of the tables. In addition to all this, there were the reverence and the military subordinations taught us towards our father from our infancy; and this engendered in us a certain shyness and misgiving. I myself have only got free of the feeling slowly and with progressive development.

The System of the Third."

The nature of our later education tended to estrange us from our father more and more. We were soon entrusted entirely to tutors and governors, and it was from them that we heard whether His Majesty was satisfied with us or the reverse. Here, in the family and in our own early youth, we already began to experience the "System of the Third," the unfortunate method whereby, with the exclusion of any direct exchange of views, decisions were made and issued by means of three persons who were also the sole mouthpieces by which the position of the interested party could be stated to the judge.

This principle, so attractive to a man of such many sided character and such a busy occupation as indubitably the kaiser has always been, took deeper and wider root with the advance of years, and in case in which place seeking, ingratiating and irremovable courtiers or politicians have gained possession of average posts, has caused the exclusion of undesirable reports and the doubtless often quite unconscious distortion of news with its consequent mischief.

Then, and still more when they tacitly combine their influence so as to strengthen their position, they and their court aids become distorters of the views upon which the ruler must base his final and important decisions. It is they who are really responsible for the mis-decisions issued in the name of the ruler and which possibly sealed his fate and that of his people.

Mediocre Chefs de Cabinet.

Turning from the pillars of this principle back to the principle itself, I know too that a chef de cabinet who should have influenced and moulded the decisions of the kaiser in quite another way might have proved a blessing to the fatherland and to us all, if that chef had been a firm, strong, and steadfast personality. But unfortunately destiny placed among the kaiser's advisers no men of such a stamp with the single exception of the clever and resolute Geheimrat von Berg, whose appointment to the responsible post of chief of the civil department took place in the year 1918—consequently too late to be of any effective service. In general, the notions of the rest were

The campaign in the Republican primary has been bitter. Senator New is running on the record made by the Harding administration the first year of the present congress; Mr. Beveridge represents the discontent with the record of the administration. President Harding kept up throughout the campaign a policy of "hands off."

The primary may hinge on the result in Marion county, including Indianapolis. Less than two score of the 207 precincts in Marion county, having the largest county vote in the state, had reported their vote late tonight.

New's Lead Less in Capital.

The New hopes are that Senator New will carry Indianapolis and Marion county by from 5,000 to 7,500, thirty-six precincts giving New 3,875 and Beveridge 2,913. It is admitted, however, that this is less than half of the majority that the New managers had expected.

PRIMARY VOTE IN INDIANA GIVES EDGE OVER NEW

Ralston Easy Victor as Democrat.

BULLETIN.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 3, 4 a. m.—904 precincts out of 3,382 in the state gave Beveridge a lead of 2,153 votes. The figures are:

Beveridge 48,388
New 46,235

Indianapolis, Ind., May 3, 3 a. m.—Albert J. Beveridge, former senator, this morning has a lead of 1,844 votes in the latest returns received on the contest with Senator Harry New in the Republican primary for nomination for United States senator.

Returners carry the result of the voting in 728 of the 3,382 precincts in the state. The precincts are scattered through seventy-five of the ninety-two counties. The figures are:

Beveridge 39,528
New 37,684

In spite of the fact that the opposition had overcome the lead which New held when the earlier returns were coming in and was increasing the gains, though slowly, Mr. New remains confident that the victory eventually will go to him.

New Still Confident.

"I will win by at least 5,000," Mr. New said. Previously he had claimed 26,000.

At the time Mr. New made this statement his headquarters gave out a statement saying New had a lead of 1,844 votes in 619 precincts in the state.

New may finally win out through later returns from this county, which is pro-New and which is returning the vote slowly.

In the Democratic primary Samuel M. Ralston, former governor, is winning the nomination with hardly a contest. The first 342 precincts to report showed he had received 18,602 votes, while the nearest of his four opponents had but 5,553.

Want Jack as Partner.
If she can make a suitable agreement, Peggy will sign a contract with Jack Dempsey and immediately proceed to America to produce a film. Peggy stated tonight that she wants to go home and see her mother in Norfolk, Va. She is tired of the bright lights, parties, and she figures she can make a lot of money with Jack in the movies.

"Before he went to Berlin, Jack wanted me to appear in a film with him," said Peggy. "Today he wired that he was coming right back to Paris to see me in my trouble. I am ready to tell him that we will make a film. I will try to get passage on the Mauretania on Saturday. I can't appear in public in Paris again after the tragedy—I cannot remain cooped up in this room forever."

Peggy believes the champion probably will finance and produce a Dempsey-Joyce picture, and she figures she can make a tidy sum during a two weeks' showing.

KIDNAPED AND FORCED TO MARRY AT POINT OF GUN

Tulsa, Okla., May 2.—[Special.]—Kidnapped and forced by seven men who claimed they were members of the Ku Klux Klan to marry Mrs. Belle Jones, a widow of 24, Chester Castle, 2020 N. 20th street, who is reported to have his marriage annulled. His mother, Mrs. Eva Cagle, filed the suit, alleging he was to be a minor.

The Rev. H. G. Cooke, who is former pastor of the Centenary Methodist Episcopal church here, now field agent for the Central Oklahoma Methodist university, admitted he performed the ceremony.

"There are enough real men in this community to see to it that no child is born without a name," he added.

FORECASTS 15,000 TENANT SUITS AS MAY-DAY SEQUEL

There will be between 15,000 and 20,000 cases in the "May Day" strike May and June. M. S. Walsh, secretary of the Tenants' League of Chicago, declared yesterday as the May Day dust was gradually settling.

The league official, together with T. G. Vance, attorney, expect at least 5,000 six months' stays granted in the courts. These will be regarded as victories for the tenants, they said. Between the expiration of the stay and the time when the appeal would be made, they declared, the landlord would be willing to "listen to reason."

SOCIETY WOMAN ROBBED OF GEMS WORTH $100,000

New York, May 2.—Jewelry valued at $100,000 was stolen from Mrs. Mitchell Harrison of Philadelphia by a band of crooks believed to have followed her to this city on a train, it became known today when the theft was reported to local authorities. The case containing the gems, according to Mrs. Harrison, who is prominent in New York, Philadelphia, and Washington society, was stolen as she had entered the Pennsylvania station Sunday evening.

DEAL THAT COST PACKER $90,000 STARTS INQUIRY

Story Told Brundage Aids Involves Four.

Four men are under investigation by the office of the attorney general of the state. It was revealed last night, in connection with operations through which, it is alleged, Henry Vette, head of a packing company at 220 North Green street, has lost $90,000.

The charges include the story of the promotion of a $1,000,000 corporation on an alleged "shoestring," the sale of a Chicago department store's stock, the taking up of the stock for bonds in the new "shoestring" corporation—"now you see it now you don't" operations by which, it is alleged, Vette was finally left empty handed and wondering where his money went.

These to Be Quizzed.

The four men to be questioned are: A. L. Salzman, an industrial engineer, who admits disposing of $35,000 in notes obtained from Vette.

under which they at first operated. Vette obtained an injunction to prevent them from disposing of or negotiating certain notes which they obtained from him.

Add "Chicago" to Name.
In the face of the New York company's attack, the word "Chicago" was attached to the name and it became the "Chicago Guaranteed Trust Company." Mr. Vette was too late with his injunction; the notes had been sold to various banks almost immediately.

According to Mr. Vette's bill for injunction, Mayer some time ago sold him some department store stock. This did not pay dividends and Mayer later went back to Vette and told him they would take the stock, some notes and about $1,000 in cash in exchange for the bonds of the Jackson Firebrick Co. of Jackson, Tenn.

Offered to Sell Bonds.

Mayer told him that he would at once dispose of these bonds at par value of $102 each. Vette subscriber to the bond and it is alleged that Mayer then induced him to write an attorney general's investigation committee, chiefly in a scrutiny of the sale of these bonds, which it was stated, do not qualify under the "blue sky" law.

According to Gen. Foreman, the firebrick company much more than the bond issue part of which Vette ostensibly purchased was one of $1,000,000; and that Vette was told the bonds were first mortgage bonds.

"We found that this was not true," said Gen. Foreman. "They did not even constitute a lien on the property; there were first mortgages on the property preceding them."

Offered to Sell Bonds.

Mayer told him that he would at once dispose of these bonds at par value of $102 each. Vette subscriber to the bond and it is alleged that Mayer then induced him to write an attorney general's investigation committee, chiefly in a scrutiny of the sale of these bonds, which it was stated, do not qualify under the "blue sky" law.

AMBITION, FEAR BREED TROUBLE IN ALL EUROPE

Once at Parley, the U. S.
Will Face Peril.

BY ROBERT R. MCGOWAN,
(Co-editor of the Chicago Tribune.)

SECOND ARTICLE.

Before referring to the cross currents of European politics which would assail our representatives at Genoa, we must emphasize the main current upon which all statesmen, diplomats, economists, business men, and speculators are borne as on a flood. This is an abiding fear of Germany.

We who felt only the closing chapters of the war and never bent or broke before it, German onalauft find it difficult to appreciate the depth of sentiment that engulfs France and broods over the new nations of Europe and England as well.

Without reviewing the years of war, it is necessary for understanding to point out that the German submarine campaign was entirely successful against England. Until the reinforcement of the American Army, the American mariner awoke across the North Sea and the German and Dutch ships sailed in American ports, Germany triumphed on, or rather under, the water.

Sought to Dismember Foe.

It should also be remembered that in the first half of 1918 Germany scored two crushing victories over the British and the French armies. In Picardy as well as in Champagne reinforcements of American troops were found necessary to stem the tide of defeat.

In the fall of the year the arrival of American millions gave the allies an enormous preponderance in numbers, after which followed the series of rear guard actions of the German army leading to the armistice and the German revolution. Germany had proved stronger in arms than England and France on sea and on land.

In his efforts to avenge France assumed the dominion on the continent. Clemenceau, at Versailles, achieved the dismemberment of the Austrian empire, thus destroying one enemy. He wished to dissolve Germany into its original units, but to this England, adhering to her principle of the balance of power, would not consent.

Want American Guarantees.

France, deprived of colonies, of wealth and merchant fleets of certain contiguous territory formerly embraced in the empire, and loaded down with a substantial indemnity, remains intact with a population about twice that of France. Fear of a revived Germany in arms is the dominant sensation of every Frenchman, and such a fear is far from absent from the English mind.

In France the chief desire from America is a guarantee against German attack. It was for this that she yielded acquiescence, however unwillingly and tacitly, to the compact of Washington. This would be her chief request of any American representative at Genoa. The cancellation of war debts would be hinted at. America's aid in collecting German reparations would be suggested, but these and practically all other French desires would be enthusiastically scrapped for a military guarantee.

How the Germans Feel.

Across the Meuse and the Rhine we find another point of view. The German republic feels that it should not be held for the sins of a monarchy it has overthrown. It believes that it should be supported before the German nation as a barrier against either a return of monarchism or the arrival of bolshevism. It has troubles enough in maintaining itself at home without the odious necessity of raising reparations money and of raising alienation among the Rhine peoples.

Germany's request to our delegate at Genoa would be that we should cause the French and Belgians to evacuate the territory held under the Versailles treaty and to waive their claims for reparation.

No idea for harmonizing these divergencies has occurred to any one. Without our "moral leadership" at Genoa we would not fare much better than the same article did at Versailles. France appreciates that her armed supremacy over Germany is precarious and may melt away with course of time.

HOLD COUPLE FOR SHOPLIFTING

A nation of 40,000,000, not increasing, sharing a common indefensible frontier with a nation of 80,000,000 of prolific people, which only recently forged the greatest military machine in history, is confronted by no simple problem.

Seeks Support of Slavs.

France's attempted solution has been to cultivate the friendly and alliance of those so-called Slav states, constructed and reconstructed at Versailles—Poland, Czechoslovakia, Roumania, Jugoslavia.

These and the colonies are counted upon to furnish bayonets to offset those carried by Pomeranian grenadiers, while Frenchmen trained at Saint-Cyr, Fontainebleau, and the Polytechnique will furnish direction for the allied arms in competition with the schools of Potsdam, even as they did in the late war.

But such a arrangement itself is a breeder of trouble. To assure herself of assistance from the new countries in their needs and desires and demands. These countries in turn are in dispute with other countries, as Poland with Lithuania, Roumania with Russia, Jugoslavia and Austria, with Italy.

Little fires are constantly breaking out, in Vilna and Flume, not forgetting that a great conflagration was almost started by the Polish-Russian war of 1919.

What Lloyd George Seeks.

It is to these latter snags that Lloyd George is addressing himself in Genoa this week. He is greatly strengthened by the treaty of Washington, which has taken his dubious allied Japan off his back and which in the Root resolution is believed by Europeans to guarantee England the military support of America in the event of submarines being started by the Polish-Russian war of 1919.

That he feels the need for America's backing is evidenced not only by his speech at Genoa, but by theenary efforts of those splendid patriotic British writers whose efforts have been filling so many columns of newspaper space, and the visits of such "notables" as Col. Patterson and Reppington and of Lady and Lord Astor, erstwhile of Virginia and the Bronx.

That we Main Streeters are bending every effort to a return of national independence, a noble and priceless gesture to embark our national kindness and egotism in a ship to Genoa with some genial gentleman thoroughly informed on primary and tariff laws, social hygiene, and sex equality, who does not know Alexandreia from Alexandria or Silesia from Cilicia.

One Example of Danger.

But before doing so let us consider one concrete point. The treaty with France and England, by virtue of which Italy entered the war, fixed her northern and eastern boundaries. From the territory thus acquired there have been elected to the Italian parliament five Tyroleans (Germans) and three Croats; this in the face of Italian military occupation. The descendants of Andreas Hofer yearn for national unity and national independence as much as

HARDING'S PASTOR SAYS PRESIDENT IS REAL MAN OF GOD

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

The Rev. W. S. Abernethy, pastor of Calvary Baptist church, Washington, D. C., which President Harding and Secretary of War Charles G. Dawes attended, commented last evening on some of the characteristics of his parishioners at a banquet of the Chicago Baptist Social Union at the Hamilton club.

He will speak today at 12:30 at the Hotel La Salle at the opening of a two day convention of the Protestant missionary movement.

"Fifty years from today historians will be writing about Charles E. Hughes as one of the greatest statesmen our country has produced," Dr. Abernethy said.

"Many things distress me about the world's condition, but I am not a pessimist when I remember that our political leaders are real men, who know God. I remember what a thrill went over the vast audience in Arlington on Armistice day, when President Harding said, 'There is no one more confident than I am in the Lord's prayer.'

Dr. Abernethy said he didn't believe the world was going to smash, even if there are flappers and many fool laws.

"I don't understand," he said, "why girls paint their faces until they look like clowns. I never cease to be distressed over beautiful girls smoking.

But I refuse to believe young people are any harder to manage than young people used to be."

their great forbears. They wish to return to government of their own race, taking with them probably a considerable number of Italians.

I mention this Tyrolean incident only because it is so well known. There are a dozen or more like it throughout Europe and some much more acute.

Do the people of America wish to consider the merits of these questions and pronounce judgment, and if so, what steps are they prepared to take to carry out their decision?

WEALTHY BOSTON MAN KILLS WIFE, COMMITS SUICIDE

BY W. G. POWELL.

Boston, Mass., May 2.—[Special.]—William G. Powell, aged 57, manager of the Boston offices of R. G. Dun & Co., shot and killed his wife, Lena, today in their palatial residence, 39 Essex St., in the Chestnut Hill section of Newton, and then shot himself. The motive for the murder and suicide is a mystery.

Mrs. Powell was the widow of R. H. White, one of the most prominent of Boston's merchants.

Both Found Dead.

A violent quarrel is reported to have preceded the shooting. One maid said she saw Mr. Powell chasing his wife with a pistol in his hand.

When servants in the residence heard the shots they rushed into the room and found both Mr. and Mrs. Powell dead.

Shortly after the shooting the grounds of the estate were shut off to visitors and a detail of policemen guarded the property. Every one except those with proper authority was barred from the house and grounds.

Wed Two Years Ago.

Mrs. Powell was 57 years old. Her former husband died Jan. 7, 1917. The scene of the shooting was a part of the estate left his wife. Mr. and Mrs. Powell, who were married about two years ago, had a part of the year at a winter home, 56 Fenway, also left Mrs. Powell by her first husband.

Mrs. Powell had only recently returned from an extended trip in the Bahamas.

Another article by Col. McCormick will be published tomorrow.

OFFER TO TAFT IS TRIBUTE TO U. S. FAIRNESS

Washington, D. C., May 2.—[Special.]—President Harding regards the proposed invitation to Chief Justice Taft to act as mediator in the proposed mixed arbitral commission for control of Russian debts as one of the finest tributes ever given by the world to American fairness and impartiality.

The question of acceptance is wholly a matter for Judge Taft to decide, although the administration believes it would be perfectly proper for him to accept if it appears that he can be of service to the nations which are trying to bring order out of chaos in Europe.

BELGIANS BOLT OFFER TO RUSSIA; FRENCH HEDGE

Lloyd George Pleads in Vain for Unity.

BY EDWIN L. JAMES.

[Copyright, 1922, by the New York Times.]
GENOA, May 2.—A new and what is regarded as very grave crisis arose tonight in the European economic conference.

The French government make any observation it desired concerning the execution of the terms of the law.

This step is taken in official circles

France Gets U. S. Dun; Shows She Can Pay If She Collects the Genoa conference to reduce some of her claims against former allies.

"We are glad to be generous with our allies, but in order to do our allies must stand with us. We are in a position of a commercial house with big debts and big outstanding credits, asked by creditors to pay and by debtors to reduce and suspend. If we are to pay we must be paid."

The French Balance Sheet.

The balance sheet of French war debts is given here as follows:

To the United States, 13,750,000,000 gold francs.

To Great Britain, 12,500,000,000 gold francs.

To Russia, 1,000,000,000 gold francs.

From Russia, 4,000,000,000 gold francs.

To Belgium, 2,250,000,000 gold francs.

To Jugoslavia, 500,000,000 gold francs.

Total, 36,250,000,000 gold francs.

Total, 9,000,000,000, which plus reparations due from Germany, amounting to 68,000,000,000, makes a total of 77,000,000,000 gold francs.

A gold franc is worth about 20 cents.

It is not pretended that the whole

French debt will be included in the war debt balance sheet, but that at least 25,000,000,000 gold francs already spent by France for the account of Germany in the reconstruction work of northern France ought to be so included. This would bring the credit side of the sheet to 34,000,000,000 gold francs, showing a balance in favor of France of 8,000,000,000 gold francs.

Peasant Instructions from his premier and to follow them.

It was agreed that the rest of the powers would approve the statement to the Russians, and that it would go forward at once, including the French amendment with the mention that the French reserved approval pending instructions from Paris.

A telegram from the Belgian delegation sent to Premier Georges Clemenceau, president of the conference, stating that he withdrew from all Russian negotiations and withdrew all offers made in connection with Russian reconstruction, including the consortium subscription.

The Belgian action is based on the fact that the new yesterday adopted Russian conditions do not protect the Belgians who stood for an out and out return of property, which the French offer does not include.

Gives Russia Chance to Quit.

The situation is therefore extremely delicate, if not critical. The statement agreed to by all the powers except France and Belgium has now gone forward. If those two countries do not finally accept the statement it will be extremely difficult for the powers to extenuate the note sent to France to make it conform to the new French views. The Russians will surely seek to do this advantage and make use of it.

Thus, a way is opened to them to break off the negotiations with a good propaganda position, being able to blame it on France and then offer treaties to other powers on the terms France refuses to accept.

M. Rakovsky, to-day the Russian would not accept the mixed tribunal arbitration Russian debt disputes because it gave two capitalist representatives the chance to outvote one Soviet representative on questions affecting Russian sovereignty. He charged that France was undertaking to break down the Soviet system.

MCNAUGHTON AND COTTER WINNERS OF HERO MEDALS

Sgt. William F. McNaughton, who killed a bandit fresh from two attempted robberies, and Fireman James Cotter, who gave three quarts of blood to save a fallen fireman, although a physician told him it might mean his life, are the police and fire heroes for the year 1921.

The breast of McNaughton, 60 years old and thirty-five years traveling beat, Mayor Thompson, in the presence of the city council, will pin the Carter H. Harrison bravery medal, the highest award the city gives for heroism. Cotter will receive the Lambeth Tree medal, the companion award for heroism in the fire department.

McNaughton was the winner of THE TRIBUNE's bravery award for last December, thereby receiving one of the twenty-four $100 bravery prizes given by this newspaper in the last two years.

Thees Make Recommendations.

The recommendations were made by Civil Service Commissioners Federer, Geary and Ames, acting with Chief Fitzmorris, First Deputy Alcock and Fire Chief O'Connor, and his first assistant, Chief Buckley. The actual awards will be made by a board consisting of the mayor, Controller Harding, City Treasurer Smith.

McNaughton, who is to the running board of a commandered automobile in pursuit of Earl Timmons and his cousin, Clyde Timmons, after he had kidnapped Mrs. James J. Callahan, her daughter, Margaret, and her brother, George Hardin, from in front of the Callahan home on Dec. 22 last.

Earl Timmons had fired two shots point-blank at the chauffeur of the Callahan car, the shots taking effect. Then the bandits drove away, so acting as chauffeur as the other was stripping Mrs. Callahan and Hardin of their valuables.

McNaughton, hearing the shooting, ran to the scene, commanded an automobile and pursued. Standing on the running board of the car, he called on the bandits to halt. When bandit car crashed into the curb at 56th street and State, "Exchanging. Only more blood will save him," came the word from the running board of his car as the policeman fired two shots at the bandits, then took after them on foot.

Naughton when the latter was only twenty feet away. Both shots missed and McNaughton kept on coming.

As Timmons turned to flee, McNaughton fired twice, the second shot killing the bandit instantly. The other robber stopped and surrendered.

Gives Blood for "Buddy."

Cotter's reward comes as a result of Fireman James English of Engine company No. 32 being crushed in a collision of apparatus at schools and State streets. The injured fireman was taken to the Chicago Polyclinic hospital and his right leg amputated. The next morning word came that English was dying from loss of blood and volunteers for transfusion were sought. Cotter was chosen. Cotter gave a quart of blood to English. Then he returned to his quarters and that night went "out on a run."

English died. Only more blood will save him," came the word from the running board of his car the next morning. Cotter gave two more quarts despite warnings it might kill him. His sacrifice was in vain, for English died.

GROWN PRINCE MEMOIRS TELL OF EARLY LIFE

Almost a Stranger to His Father, the Kaiser.

characterized by dull half heartedness. Where ever they had to suggest men for the execution of new tasks the men whom they proposed and recommended were only too often mediocres.

Ambitious and friendly discussions between father and son scarcely ever took place. It was clear that the Kaiser avoided any personal controversy in which decisions might be necessary; here, again, the third party was interposed. For trivialities, which, under other conditions, a few paternal words might have settled, intermediaries and privy persons were employed and thus made acquainted with the affair; in my own case, since nature has not gifted me with a taste for such penitential formalities, the tension was often increased.

Invited Criticism of His Conduct.

It is quite possible that these gentlemen, who were convinced of the very profound importance of their opinions, were not always received by me with courtesy corresponding to their own self-esteem and that they rewarded me by taking the next opportunity to express to his majesty their views on my immaturity and lack of courtesy and dignity.

Most certainly these intermediaries are in no small degree answerable for misunderstandings, and for the fact that small conflicts were avoided at the expense of the entire field of prejudices and imputations.

Sometimes I received the impression that these little intrigues assumed the character of mischief making. Everything I said or did was usually reported to his majesty; and I was then young and careless, and I certainly uttered many a thoughtless word and took many a thoughtless step.

In such circumstances it was for me almost a liberation to be ordered to go to the Kaiser in regalments and to receive from him in private a thorough dressing down on account of "manometer ninety-nine" or some incident connected with a special celebration. It was then that we understood one another best.

His First Personal "Call Down."

Now I had just ridden my first public race in the Berlin-Potsdam Riding club and was hoping that there would be no sequel in the shape of a row, when next morning the Kaiser ordered me to appear before him at the Neues Palais—representatives. There was thunder in the air.

"You've been racing."

"To command."

"Why did you do it, then?"

"Because I am passionately fond of it and because I think it is a good thing for the crown prince to show his enemies that he does not fear danger and thereby sets them a good example."

A moment's consideration and then

THE EXILE OF WIERINGEN

WILHELM HOHENZOLLERN.

sired, not endless reunions and representative gala performances, but unrestrained intercourse with people of all kinds, sociability in a small circle, theaters, concerts, hunting and sport.

Calls His Parent "Nobis."

I have ever recognized in the Kaiser my father; my imperial sire, to whom it was my duty as well as my heart's wish to show every respect and every honor.

I have been perusing the pages which I penned recently as reminiscences of my childhood and of my attitude toward my parents. The passages seem to me that my writings are not quite just to my father's character, that they speak only of petty weakness, that, if I am to give a complete sketch of his personality, I must dwell upon him more in detail.

In seeking to feature his deepest characteristics, a word forces itself upon my attention which I am almost shy of applying to any man of our own day, a word which seems hollow and trite because like all other common words it finds short shrift continually and thoughtlessly: it is the word "Edel" (noble). The Kaiser is noble in the best sense of the word; he is full of the most upright desire for goodness and piety, and the words of his intellectual cosmos is without a blemish and without a stain.

Where His Father Failed.

I have a thousand times observed the effect of his personality to be indeed very great and have seen men of otherwise thoroughly independent habit fall an easy prey to his frequently fascinating though perhaps only transitory influence.

To this lack of perspective in estimating his personal relations and his personal influence may be partly attributed his remaining so long unconscious of the full significance of the approaching dangers.

So it happened that, even when the enormous pressure of economic and political forces was uncontrollably driving the world toward the catastrophe of war, he believed himself able to bring the wheels of fate to a standstill by means of his influence in London and St. Petersburg.

The Kaiser's efforts to estimate men and things correctly—that is, in reality and objectively and without any personal exaggeration—is of the greatest moment to rulers and statesmen. It has not been liberally bestowed upon the Kaiser, and my impression is that responsible individuals and the heads of the various "cabins" have not, by any means always intervened with the energy necessary to correct erroneous conceptions of this description.

HOLD SONS OF WEALTHY MEN AS 'POLITE BANDITS'

Four Youths Seized in a Stolen Auto.

Don't carry large sums of money or jewelry, and especially not at night.

After a wild three weeks of crime, during which they gained fame in the underworld as "polite bandits," two young men, one the son of Mai James Morris Holman of the regular army, were held at the detective bureau last night on charges of having committed at least four holdups in May.

With them are two other youths, one the son of James L. Perkins, wealthy iron and steel broker at 140 South Dearborn street. His name is James Jr. With Cornelius Drapanes, 201 East 63d street, he is held for questioning. The two were found in the stolen auto in which the first couple were captured after a gun battle early yesterday.

Both Youngsters Confess.

The pair identified their names as Malcolm Holman, 914 East Marquette, and James Miller, 6229 Perry avenue. Both are youngsters and both confessed.

"Sure we pulled the robbery," said Holman yesterday when questioned by Chief of Detectives Hughes and Lieut. James Cusack. "We began three weeks ago and we have averaged from five to six holdups a week. But we haven't been rough. I do not believe we have made a single enemy. I doubt if any one will come forward to prosecute."

"Why, we were the politest men you ever saw when we handled pistols for profit. If a man advanced sentimental reasons for robbing jewelry we simply asked him to write it a check and we returned the jewelry as soon as the paper was turned into cash. Why, I have had lots of fellows thank us when we had finished robbing them. One woman stopped us as we walked away."

"Wait a moment," she said, "I want to thank you boys for a novel experience."

Inability to find or hold a job because of poor eyesight caused him to turn to a life of crime," he told the police. Miller said he had been a "boob."

Victims Identify Youths.

Six others who had been robbed by Holman and Miller identified them last night at the detective bureau, where the police held "open house" to receive the complaints of victims. Those who identified them are:

C. H. Stephenson, 6146 Dorchester avenue, robbed April 19 of $5 and his car, 1228 East 52d street, with Miss Cortese, 5222 East 42d street, April 21, robbed of $200; Josephine Cortese, 5492 Woodward avenue, April 27, robbed of her wrist watch, gold mesh bag and diamond ring, valued at $11; John J. Butler, 1228 East 52d street, with Miss Cortese, 5222 East 42d street, April 21, robbed of $20; Heister Harris, 1448 Catalpa avenue, April 30, robbed of his handbag a ring, valued at $20; Milton Tucker, 1513 Victoria avenue, with Miss Harris, was robbed of his watch valued at $50, and $45.

EX-YANK WINS IRISH BATTLE OF KILKENNY

Collins' Troops Victors in Many Clashes.

BY PAUL WILLIAMS.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(Copyright 1922, By The Chicago Tribune.)

DUBLIN, May 2.—Troops loyal to the provisional government and irregular forces clashed in various parts of southern Ireland today. The opposing factions battled in Kilkenny and conflicts were narrowly averted in Kinnegad and Thurles. Skirmishes took place in the streets of Dublin when the loyal forces dislodged the irregulars from positions they had seized.

In the meantime the leaders of the factions sought a way to unity in a conference here, ending with a statement that they will make a proposal at the meeting of the Dail Eireann tomorrow.

A diversion from the internecine strife was furnished this morning by members of the royal Irish constabulary who are billeted at Gormanston awaiting demobilization. A number went to Drogheda in four armored cars and lorries, where they proceeded to shoot up the town. They fired scores of bullets which pierced windows and scored the walls in the principal streets and set fire to a three-story building used by the republicans as political headquarters. Then they attacked the Castle barracks, occupied by the irregulars. The raid was a reprisal for the murder of a constable last Sunday.

Rebels Seize Cathedral.

The irregulars, who evacuated Kilkenny prison last Sunday under the threat of an attack by Commandant Prout, who saw service in the world war as an officer in the American army, returned last night with reinforcements, occupying numerous buildings, including Ormond castle, the Town Hall, police cathedral, and the Imperial hotel. He captured more than 100 men.

Kilkenny Regulars Surrender.
Irregulars holding the police barracks at Kilkenny surrendered to loyal troops without a shot being fired.

The irregulars in Dublin now hold the Four Courts building, the port and dock office, the Kilkenny, Kilmalimham jail, and Lever Bros' store. When the port and docks board asked the commandant of the irregulars for the books and records, he replied they could have them if they furnished bags of sand to be used in place of the books as barricades.

There was sharp fighting when irregulars occupied the Central hotel in Exchequer street, near Dublin castle.

GIRL ASKS COURT TO PUNISH HER FIANCÉ'S SLAYER

Miss Rose Durante, 271 De Koven street, was dining with her fiancée, John Ciro, at a party given last November by an Italian club at Emmett Memorial hall. Her father, Nicholas Durante, was standing by the door when a man came in, the police at the father, surrounding him, then shot and killed Petrone as he ran to Durante's rescue.

Miss Durante walked into Judge John J. Sullivan's courtroom, where Nick Ciro is being tried as the man who did the killing. She brought with her a lawyer and asked that it be given to the judge. The paper asks that her fiancée's slayer be brought to justice.

Four jurors have been selected so far. It is expected that the panel will be completed today.

Mellow in flavor and enriched with milk, CHILDS coffee is nourishing as well as stimulating.

PLANES SMASH NEW ORLEANS TO CHICAGO RECORD

Breaking all records for air travel between Chicago and New Orleans, the De Soto and the Isle de Luson, two six passenger flying boats owned by the Triangle Airways, arrived at Belmont harbor yesterday. The two ships completed the trip in thirteen hours and ten minutes flying time. The former record was sixteen hours and twenty minutes.

The planes will fly from the foot of Randolph street throughout the summer.

arrive over the loop. A moment later the De Soto appeared. R. W. Pears and Capt. P. A. Townsend, pilot and general manager, respectively, were in the first ship, and G. R. Benedict and R. J. Ramig were flying the De Soto. The ships were set down on the water at the same time and were taxied into Belmont harbor, where relatives and friends greeted the flyers. The visitors left Chicago last November for New Orleans, where the ships spent the winter. Mrs. C. P. Bellan of Wheaton was on shore waiting for her brother, G. R. Benedict.

The planes will fly from the foot of Randolph street throughout the summer.

DEATH MYSTERY STILL UNSOLVED AT HOPESTON

Hoopston, Ill., May 2.—[Special]— Efforts of officials to trace the footsteps of Miss Gertrude Hanna after the girl had proceeded on her mystery
"death walk" on the morning of March 11 from the home of her sister, Mrs. Mariella Harding, at the Tilton home, as far as the little village of Rossville, six miles away, resulted in failure today.

Like every other clew or theory advanced by the police, it has been discredited, since it has been shown that Miss Hanna was found in the basement of the United Presbyterian church here yesterday, the new information showing, and merely increased the mystery as to how Miss Hanna came to her death.

Seen in Cafe,

Rachel Brown, proprietress of the Dixie cafe at Rossville furnished the clew as to the movements of Miss Hanna after the girl slipped unseen from her sister's home.

Mrs. Brown's story is that on that day a strange young woman walked into her restaurant at 7 o'clock in the morning, and, after a short time, sat at one window, and ordered toast and coffee. The girl wore a gray coat and a knitted cap similar to the "stocking cap." Miss Hanna is known to have worn, and resembled the girl otherwise.

Recalling today by William T. Hanna, the girl's father, of a half coherent note she had written to him, referring to "Mrs. Nora Cloud," and indicating that Gertrude had possibly been sent to Philadelphia and slain, sent officials hurrying back to Rossville.
Upon discovery, however, that Mrs.
Cloud was a fellow inmate of the girl at the state asylum at Kankakee several years ago, all interest in the incidental note was abandoned.

Judge John H. Lewman declared she had not seen the girl since her disappearance.

Lewman Drops Case.

Mr. Lewman ceased activity in the case today and plunged into other duties. He frankly admitted his investigation so far has developed nothing of value aside from the clew furnished by Mrs. Brown.

Chief Police C. J. Bogart hopes to unearth something before the grand jury convenes next week.

Lengthy questioning of the father,
John C. Wyman, former tutor of Miss Hanna, and of Wyman's two brothers in-law in Lewman's office in Danville last night was devoid of result, Mr.
Lewman said.

FIND DEATH WAS ACCIDENTAL.
Accidental death was the verdict of a coroner's jury yesterday at an inquest held at the Grand Hotel in the death of Fred Mochroki, a laborer, who was crushed by a falling wall yesterday.

Nation Spends Less for Jewelry Than Cosmetics

America's jewelry, costing $500,000, 000 last year, is a mere fraction of the fortunes expended for cosmetics, furs, fashionable clothes, hats, and shoes. Dr. Eisenstadt, chairman of the advisory council of the National Jewelers' association, which met yesterday at the University club, "More than 60 per cent of jewelry is essential," he declared, enumerating items such as silverware, cuff buttons, watches, and clocks. One million forty thousand

CROWE BLAMES SWAY OF CRIME TO JURY DODGING

Criminal Rush to Get on Panels, He Charges.

When reputable citizens show a willingness to serve on juries as great as that displayed by the criminal, then we may look for a minimum of crime in Chicago.

This is the substance of the speech made yesterday by State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary club in the Hotel Sherman.

The state's attorney announced that Simon O'Donnell, former head Building Trades council, recently acquitted of charges of extortion, would again be brought to trial as the result of disclosures of jury bribing in his first trial.

Will Ask O'Donnell Retrial.

"As soon as I have disposed of the bribe charges in the O'Donnell case I shall ask Judge Scanlan to issue a writ for a retrial," said Mr. Crowe. "A jury in the O'Donnell case brought in $600 in bills, part of a $1,000 bribe, shortly after the close of the trial. He will tell this to Judge Scanlan and we shall then try O'Donnell again."

"The only way of sending a criminal who pleads not guilty to the penitentiary is through a jury. Criminals are anxious to serve on juries, but I have seen so-called 'prominent business men' perjure themselves to avoid jury service."

"If the citizens of Chicago were as eager to serve on juries as the criminals are, there would be a marvelous decrease in crime."

Denies Breakdown of Machinery.

Mr. Crowe declared false any impression that there had been a breakdown in the machinery of the criminal court. He said statistics of the crime commission show Chicago was the only city in the country in which crime decreased last year and credited this to the co-operation of Chief of Police Fitzmorris, Sheriff Peters, and Judge Scanlan.

"But I am not satisfied," he said. "They ought to be two judges in the Criminal Court instead of one. Then our legal machinery would be speeded up until every criminal would be tried within sixty days after his crime. A murder case should be tried while the blood of the victim is still warm."

Henry Barrett Chamberlin, operating director of the Chicago crime commission, pressed Chief Justice Scanlan was present and was applauded vigorously when introduced as the judge who was doing his utmost to fight crime in Chicago."

3 BANDITS OBTAIN $8,000 IN HOLDUP OF JEWEL STORE

Three bandits entered the store of Louis Kirschbaum, 6030 South Halsted street, yesterday, held up Kirschbaum, and obtained diamonds and jewelry valued at $8,000. They escaped after taking Kirschbaum and putting him in a rear room.

"A man who gave the name of Cummings came in the store Monday night and ordered a diamond wedding ring," said Kirschbaum yesterday. "He left a $1 deposit and said he would return in the morning."

"About 9 o'clock in the morning he entered and said he had decided to take a more expensive ring. I reached for the tray and suddenly he pulled out two revolvers. Another man stepped in just then and pulled out another revolver."

A third man then entered, and Kirschbaum was marched to a rear room, where he was tied. The bandits took a quantity of diamonds from the open safe and watches from the showcases and escaped.

OSCAR F. MAYER ESCAPES PRISON; SCORED BY JUDGE

Oscar F. Mayer, millionaire packer and head of the Oscar F. Mayer & Brothers company, yesterday escaped punishment as a perjurer. Attorney George L. Schein, counsel for Mr. Mayer, and who advised the execution of a petition for a change of venue, which drew the judge's ire, was also publicly scored by Judge Stransky, who declared that the petition was a perjury and "a most reprehensible attempt to thwart an order of the court."

Earlier in the day a colleague of Mr. Schein appeared before Judge Stransky, pleading for non-punishment of the $50,000 suit instituted against the Mayer company by A. Silz as the result of an alleged breach of contract. The plea was denied and the filing of the petition for a change of venue followed, in which Mr. Mayer swore that he had reason to believe that Judge Stransky was prejudiced against his company.

WANT INTERVIEW WITH PRESIDENT ON BONUS BILL

Washington, D. C., May 2.—[Special.]—Republican members of the Senate finance committee prepared to seek a conference with President Harding today after tentatively approving the so-called McCumber soldiers' bonus plan, which contemplates only slight changes from the bill as passed by the house.

A majority of the ten Republicans on the committee, it was indicated, favored the McCumber plan, although Senator Snoot Utahl continued to press his proposal for the substitution of a paid up insurance policy without any loan features for the adjusted service certificate on which loans may be obtained from banks.

The conference will be held with President Harding as soon as a draft of the bill is completed. The senators seem to think that the President may approve the bill, although it does not appear to contain any features which would make it less objectionable than the house measure was supposed to be.

An estimate submitted to the finance committee by Joseph S. McCoy, treasury actuary, showed the cost under the McCumber plan to be $77,000,000 for the first year, $92,000,000 for the second, $73,000,000 for the third year, and $376,000,000 for the fourth year. The eventual cost is given at $3,845,000,000.

Under the McCumber plan the land settlement aid is eliminated but the adjusted service certificate with a few

BATTEN

A Million Times You

WALKING to the office one day, your neighbor says to you, "Have you tried Blank's Shaving Soap? It's the greatest stuff I ever used."

The next Saturday, while waiting at the seventh tee, your guest remarks, "Are you using Blank's Shaving Soap? Try it—it's got 'em all beaten."

After five or six enthusiasts have spoken their pieces, you buy a tube of Blank's Shaving Soap. You like it, talk about it, keep on using it.

When a million of you act this way—as a million of you do—in response to repeated advertising, then a manufacturer has moulded Public Opinion to a favorable view of his product.

In the abstract, Public Opinion seems a vague, shapeless thing. But consider yourself and your friends and whole cities and states full of real men and women as forming Public Opinion, and you see what a tangible and mighty force it is.

ONCE a month, or more frequently, we issue a publication called Batten's Wedge. Each issue is devoted to a single editorial on some phase of business. If you are a business executive and would like to receive copies, write us.

SMALL JURORS FISH; JUDGE AND LAWYERS GOLF

Governor Gets 'Afternoon Off' to Sign Bonds.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Waukegan, Ill., May 2.—Just as expectations of a completed jury in his case were rising rapidly, Gov. Len Small today was given an "afternoon off" to sign $2,000,000 worth of road bonds. To pass the time the jury played baseball and went fishing, and the judge and lawyers played golf.

State Treasurer Edward E. Miller bought the securities here for the governor's signature. Mr. Miller said that between three and four hours' close application would do the job, and after that the governor said he understood they would be signed after a regular adjournment at 4:30.

On this basis the signing would have been completed about 9 o'clock in the evening, but apparently some one connected with the defense proposed to eliminate the afternoon session. State's Attorney C. F. Mortimer of Sangamon soon, chief of prosecution, and Judge Claude C. Edwards both commented on the stipulation that the morning session run until 1 o'clock. At that hour adjourned until 10 a. m. tomorrow.

Protests that the remaining four hours would be accepted today grew bright before noon, when the defense tendered to the state what it considered four inept veniremen.

Only One Survives.

However, only one of these survived the questioning by Attorney Ralph J. Olson of the state. He was August Nelson, a carpenter, who had been rendered by the state on Monday. Besides Nelson, William Mueller, young Waukegan carpenter; Peter Larsen, an Adcock carpenter; contractor, and William Zerson, a retired farmer of Lake Area, were in the jury box when adjournment came.

Because of the way the small case is holding up other court business, Judge Edwards has asked Judge Shurtliff to come in from McHenry county and hear the regular docket for a few days.

BUILDERS PLAN SUBSTITUTE FOR CITIZENS' BODY

GIRL DISAPPEARS; PARENTS BELIEVE SHE HAS ELOPED

Her parents believe Miss Margaret Johnson, 20 years old, daughter of Elmer Johnson, 51 of Ironwood, Mich., whom she has known for only a week. Mr. Johnson, who asked the police to search for Graski, said his daughter had called on him a week ago and had been with her mother every day.

On her dresser MISS MARGARET JOHNSON left a note saying: "Dear Mama and Papa: I am going away, but will be all right, Margaret." The girl is 5 feet 6 inches tall, weighs 125 pounds, has black hair and eyes, and was clad in a black suit and hat.

In their membership is 95 per cent of the builders and contractors in Chicago. The two associations were a party to the Landis award and were partially instrumental in the formation of the citizens' committee.

Thomas E. Donnelley, president of the citizens' committee, stated at the meeting that it would be some time before the committee was disbanded—not before there was a housecleaning of officials in some of the building trades unions.

"There are 500 nonunion plumbers working in Chicago," he said, "and there are 10,000 union mechanics working in the twelve trades which refused to accept the Landis award."

"Because of the conditions which have existed in the building trades there are fewer bricklayers in Chicago today than in 1913. Then there were 5,500. Today there are only 5,500. In Ford's automobile factory there are 800 bricklayers at work for less than the scale paid by their own trade."

It was explained by members of the citizens' committee that the bricklayer-

100 FAMILIES ARE MADE HOMELESS BY $100,000 FIRE

One hundred tenement dwellers were made homeless yesterday by a fire which destroyed six frame houses at 1812 Flisk street. Several rescues from the smoke filled upper rooms were made by firemen. Two boys were saved from a hallway by Eddie Tandy, proprietor of a cabaret at Flisk and 18th streets, and Policeman E. H. Curran of the Third district. B. Bouchard, 1110 West 18th street, owner of the building, was rescued from an upper window by firemen on a ladder. The fire started from a basement garage where boys were playing with matches. The loss is estimated at $20,000.

Shortly after the fire Policeman Curran was attacked and almost overpowered by Thomas McCabe, 5040 Prairie avenue, who had arrested for accosting women, as he was taking the prisoner to the patrol box. Curran's hands were burned in the rescue and he was unable to defend himself. Maurice Miller, a taxicab chauffeur, and several other men went to his rescue and assisted in subduing McCabe.

Tenants Ask Injunction to Halt Building Razing

In an effort to halt preparations for the wrecking of the building at 400 South State street Nick and Theodore Spaperulas, tenants in the building, yesterday filed a petition in the Superior court asking that the razing of the building be enjoined until the existing leases on the property have expired. Judge Charles M. Foell will hear the arguments today.

Charles Piez, member of the executive committee of the Citizens' Committee to Enforce the Landis Award, yesterday announced at a joint meeting of the Associated Builders and the Building Construction Employers' association that when the committee's work has been accomplished there will be a single, unified organization of contractors and builders to take its place. This organization, it was reported after the meeting, will keep up a persistent fight against graft and intimidation in the building industry.

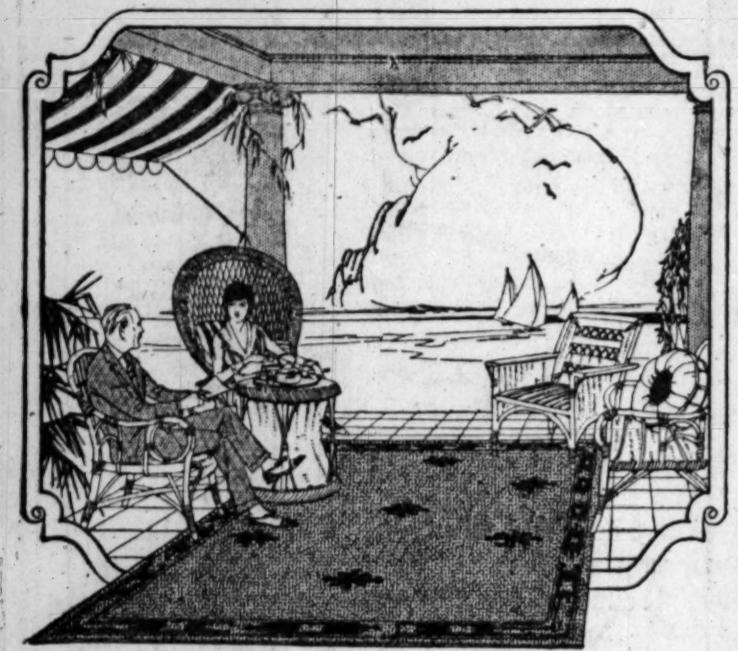

Amalgamation Is Planned.

It was learned that the citizens' committee has already made the first move toward an amalgamation of the Associated Builders and the Building Construction Employers' association and that the new organization of contractors will be functioning long before the committee has completed its work.

The Associated Builders has more than 800 members and the Building Construction Employers' association about 600. There has been considerable bitterness between the two associations in the past.

Both have offices in the Chamber of Commerce building, though on differ-Curran's hands were burned in the rescue and he was unable to defend himself. Maurice Miller, a taxicab chauffeur, and several other men went to his rescue and assisted in subduing McCabe.

Replies to Gompers.
Referring to a speech made by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, on the Municipal pier last Saturday afternoon, Mr. Donnelley said:

"I think that the crisis was passed when the president of the American Federation of Labor promised 100 per cent support in any cause you may pursue to the unions which had given faith to the leaders who lead by methods of the gunmen and slingers."

"A certain element of the public criticized us for declaring an open shop in the twelve trades which had refused to go along with the Landis award. After reading Mr. Gompers' speech, no such feeling exists."

"There are 500 nonunion plumbers working in Chicago," he said, "and there are 10,000 union mechanics working in the twelve trades which have existed in the building trades since 1913. Then there were 5,500. Today there are only 5,500. In Ford's automobile factory there are 800 bricklayers at work for less than the scale paid by their own trade."

It was explained by members of the citizens' committee that the bricklayerwas attacked and almost overpowered by Thomas McCabe, 5040 Prairie avenue, who had arrested for accosting women, as he was taking the prisoner to the patrol box. Curran's hands were burned in the rescue and he was unable to defend himself. Maurice Miller, a taxicab chauffeur, and several other men went to his rescue and assisted in subduing McCabe.

FRANCIS TELLS HOW TO REDUCE AUTO ACCIDENTS

By J. L. JENKINS.

Watch your speed! Strict observance of the motor vehicle laws by automobile drivers will reduce Chicago's fatal accident list 50 per cent this year, according to Charles R. Francis, commissioner of public works. The other 50 per cent of fatalities can be eliminated through public education in safety and a general recognition of the grave danger resulting from increased street traffic, he said.

The commissioner promised cooperation of his department in the city-wide campaign for motor safety. In an address before more than 1,000 passenger car and truck drivers who attended the second session of the Chicago motor drivers' free school last night, he outlined steps already taken in the campaign and urged every driver present to do all in his power to make Chicago the world's safest city.

Several other speakers endorsed the general safety movement and the Chicago safety council, under whose auspices the school is run.

Reckless Driving Cause of Death.

Speed and reckless driving were direct causes of the death last Sunday of Miss Hazel Bark of Aurora, according to testimony taken yesterday in a coroner's jury. Carl V. Lund of Batavia, owner of the car which collided with the Bark machine on the Lincoln highway near St. Charles, is charged with having driven at high speed and without lights on the left side of the road before the accident.

The jury recommended further investigation of the accident by the state's attorney.

Victim's Brother Writes Open Letter.

Michael Madsen of Oak Park, whose brother, Mads Madsen, was killed by a speeding "vampire" car on Roosevelt road April 23, issued an open letter yesterday, declaring that the unknown driver of the death car, who sped away leaving the injured man of giving privileged status to the Johnson-Woodruff resolution calling for appointment of a special committee to investigate all contracts, settlements and expenditures by the war and navy departments and the alien property custodian during and since the war.

The attorney general said he had written the chairman of the house rules committee that the department of justice had no objection to its investigation and "to go along with it." I want to say this, however," he added. "Investigation by the department of war transactions has been going on as rapidly as possible with the funds congress has provided and the use of other funds where that could legitimately be used for the purpose.

SEAWAY IN NEXT 10 YEARS TO SAVE MIDWEST TRADE

Washington, D. C., May 2.—[Special.]—Failure to construct the St. Lawrence deep waterway within the next ten years will mean commercial death to more than 42,000,000 persons in the Great Lakes, the Alleghenies and the Rocky mountains, Representative Chalmers [O.] told the Washington City club today.

"The very return of the country to normalcy will tend to choke the business life out of the nation by lack of proper circulation," he said. "The railroads are inadequate to handle 40 per cent of the trade."

"Yet there is less railroad mileage in America today than there was ten years ago, and the railroads have not had a building program for eight years.

The St. Lawrence seaway, providing a clear way water route from the great lakes to the Atlantic, is the only salvation in sight."

100 NEW CARS TO BE IMPROVEMENT OF 'L' BY MERGER

Budd Says That Is What $2,000,000 Will Buy.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

In the proposed merger of the Northwestern, Metropolitan and South Side elevated roads into one corporation and the subsequent purchase by it of the Oak Park "L," President Britton, of Budd, promised $2,000,000 worth of added cars. So he was asked yesterday what $2,000,000 now means in the number of cars, number of seats, and when the cars will be placed in operation.

BRETTEN I. BUDD. Mr. Budd estimated that $2,000,000 will purchase 100 new cars and thought they could be delivered six months after the merger is consummated. July 11 next is the date set for the ratification by the stockholders of what the directors and Illinois commerce commission may do in the meantime.

INCREASE OF 7 PER CENT.

During rush hours at present a maximum of 1,513 cars is used, therefore the anticipated 100 new cars for Feb. 1, 1923, means that the facilities will be increased between 6 and 7 per cent in cars.

Presumably these cars will be distributed between the four systems and fitted into the scheme of operation by which all can be used effectively to increase service between 6 and 7 per cent.

Henry A. Blair of the surface lines and Samuel Insull of the elevated roads have been invited to appear before the council local transportation committee tomorrow morning. The purpose of the meeting is "to consider questions pending before the committee with reference to a settlement of the transportation problem and the building of subways."

PROGRESS OF COMMITTEE.

The invitation, signed by Chairman Schwartz, recites the developments in the committee since Messrs. Blair and Insull last appeared. These include the opinions of the attorneys saying that the city has no right to interfere with the construction of tubes, the plan of the engineering advisers for the construction, and the favorable opinion of the investment bankers on "utility certificates" as a means of purchasing the local transportation systems. He might also have added that the city has the cash with which to start subways.

The letter says the above matters will be discussed and that the committee "most earnestly urges that you be present and give the committee the benefit of your views with reference thereto."

In Mood to Proceed.

A majority of the transportation committee is in mood at present to take action upon a feasible plan if any one will present it. Mr. Blair has submitted to the committee a general outline of a plan upon which he is willing to negotiate. Some of the aldermen think Mr. Insull should be as definite. He will probably be asked to state what sort of action, if any, he thinks the committee should take to aid the car riders of Chicago.

OVERCROWDING OF UNIVERSITIES SEEN AS PERIL TO NATION

W.M. JESSUP. America's chances of remaining one of the leading civilized powers of the world depend upon our maintaining a high grade of education," President Jessup said last night.

"The universities became so large and costs so great keeping up a university was comparatively simple.

"But that day has passed. Today the university has as many big monetary problems as big business. The leading private and endowed schools and colleges are knocking at the door of the universities. Already the private and state universities cannot limit their enrollment, but the state university cannot limit. We must improve housing conditions. Every state university in the country will have to better its housing conditions in the next few years."

FOURMORE CASH AND CARRY MILK STATIONS OPEN

Four more "cash and carry" milk stations, selling milk at 10 cents a quart, will be opened today by the Keweenaw Dairy company, City High Cost Express Pool announced yesterday in issuing a warning to "the large distributors."

"I have learned that the large distributors recently held a meeting and discussed ways and means of discouraging cash and carry milk depots," Mr. Poole said. "Unless extraordinary methods are used, these stations will soon spread all over the city. I want to warn those who are attempting to discourage cheaper milk to stay within the bounds of lawful competition."

AUTOPSY HELD ON HUSBAND NO. 5 OF 'MRS. BLUEBEARD'

Cleveland, O., May 2.—An autopsy on the body of an ex-soldier who died suddenly nearly a year ago under mysterious circumstances was performed by Coroner A. L. Hammond today. The body is that of the fifth husband of a woman who is being held pending investigation.

Although charged with another crime which has no connection with this case, the woman is suspected of having committed a series of murders in an attempt to collect $100,000 insurance.

Three of the woman's husbands died mysteriously, according to County Prosector Edward C. Stanton.

WHEN the feet are young." Not poetical perhaps, but true nevertheless.

¶ You often hear it said—when discussing old people—"He or she is seventy, eighty, nearly ninety years old, and just as spry and active as ever."

¶ And, by the same token, there are many young men and women who spend more money on corn plasters than they do on good shoes.

¶ Fine shoes make young feet. Yes, and put music in the heart—for shoes that are made of the finest materials with long-skilled care, so that they fit perfectly, look wonderfully and last longer than you'll believe, add much to the well-being of the wearer.

¶ Edwin Clapp Shoes are extraordinary shoes. They represent a great shoemaker's vision and purpose. Some people would call it an ideal.

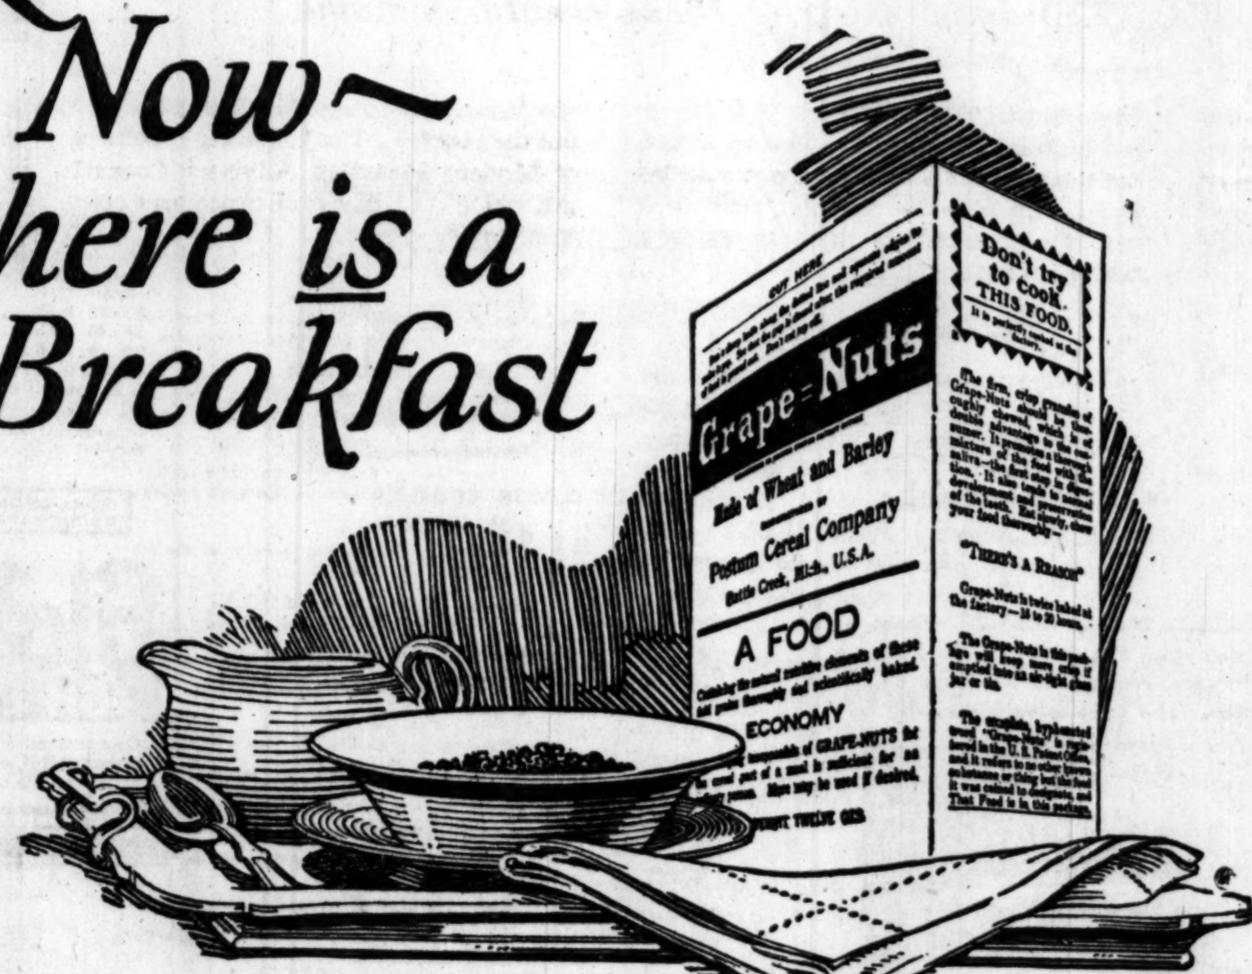

¶ One thing is true about them—that for sixty-nine years Edwin Clapp Shoes have been built with unswerving loyalty to the highest standards known to the trade.

¶ For men and women. Try a pair.

Woman's Side of the Story

Home-making embraces an intimate knowledge of 88 distinct fields of housewifery—some inside the home—some outside. The dovetailing of these creates a home

EIGHTY-EIGHT distinct accomplishments to make a house a home!

An exhaustive analysis of the housewife's activities reveals the astonishing fact that hers is not a mere routine of automatic action, but a dovetailing of vast stores of accumulated information.

An understanding of basic facts of the decorative and culinary arts, of hygiene and sanitation, dietetics and child-rearing enters into her work—an unending hoard of facts branching out into 88 diversified fields.

Preparing for housewifery

What sources does a woman tap for this vital information?

Where formerly she had spent her girlhood days in a sort of apprenticeship to her mother, today the lure of the pay-envelope or the desire for greater spheres of action has drawn her to the trades, the offices, the professions.

With what results? Marriage finds her totally unprepared for the surprisingly complex profession of home-making. Hard biscuits, ruined digestions and confusion, the first year, are not phantasies of fiction, but hard realities.

Confronted with the problem of gaining this knowledge speedily, eager to apply her systematic business training to household management, she finds herself leaning more and more heavily on the same form of medium that solves man's business problems.

Two-thirds of a million women turn for specialized information on housecraft to the one magazine that devotes more of its space to strictly instructional articles than all other leading women's magazines.

Woman's trade journal

The housewife's trade journal is Modern Priscilla.

Only fourteen percent of its contents is fictional. The great body of Modern Priscilla is devoted, exclusively to data covering household and decorative problems, such as the selection and preparation of foods, the planning of budgets and menus, embroidery as applied to napery, home decoration and dress, practical handicrafts like weaving, knitting, and crocheting—in fact, all those things through which a woman's touch invests a home with charm.

So significant is this information to the modern housewife that she would no more think of destroying old issues of Modern Priscilla than a professional man his scientific journal. It is the woman's household scientific journal—her encyclopedia of housecraft. Investigation shows that 90% of Modern Priscilla readers retain their back numbers indefinitely, not infrequently as long as ten years.

Data contained in Modern Priscilla is not haphazard conjecture. Not an article, not a recipe, not a product recommended to Modern Priscilla readers, but that it runs the gamut of a rigorous test in a home laboratory.

The home laboratory

Supplementing the work of Modern Priscilla, a modern suburban home, in the environs of Boston, is completely equipped for the strenuous testing of every type of household article and device. The "Priscilla Proving Plant" is used by the household editors of Modern Priscilla under typical home conditions.

Every article and device after passing a chemist's or engineer's analysis, is then tested by (1) an expert housewife, with scientific training; (2) an expert housewife, without scientific training; (3) an inexperienced housewife.

Such articles or household devices as establish their reliability and home utility are awarded the PPP seal and the certificate of the Priscilla Proving Plant.

Advisory Council

The science of home-making, developed by Modern Priscilla, is aided by university specialists and college faculties throughout the country. The following members of Modern Priscilla's Advisory Council are included in its list of prominent contributors for 1922:

ALONZO E. TAYLOR of the Hoover Foundation for Food Research at Leland Stanford University.

MARY A. SWEENEY
head of Home Economics Dept., Michigan Agricultural College.

THOMAS NIXON CARVER

PIMPLY SKIN

Sulphur as Told When Skin Breaks Out

reaking out of the skin neck, arms or body is the quickest by applying Sulphur. The pimples dry right up and go declares a noted skin doctor.

ng has ever been found the place of sulphur as a remover. It is harm- inexpensive. Just ask glist for a small jar of Sulphur and use it like am.

French chapeaux at half price

—original models used for display

All were recently imported after being personally selected by our representative. And now when madam and miss are wearing their new tailleur and afternoon frocks come "hat values" that must be reckoned among the season's best. Hats from France's foremost creators:

Maria Guy Hermance Germaine Suzy
Louison Le Monnier Leontine Lejonne
Leonie Rose Descat Mary & Anne
Suzelle—also leading Eastern designers

—a charming collection which has been admired most enthusiastically. Reduced prices range from $9 to $24. The hat sketched is 17.50.

Girls' silk dresses for summer —of crepe de chine 15.75 shantung, taffeta

Fashioned with features found usually in models priced many dollars more, the frocks meet the most exacting demands for value. The youthful, summery styles—and there are many of them—are distinctly new.

The silks are in light and dark shades; the hand embroideries, ruffles and ribbons are both novel and artistic. Not all sizes in all styles but every size from 6 to 14 in the group. Three frocks are pictured—they're representative.

STRONG DEMAND FOR MAY WHEAT SENDS IT HIGHER

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Strength in May wheat was the outstanding feature of the grain market yesterday. At no time has there been any greater pressure here or at Kansas City and Minneapolis, and the finish was at the top with a net gain of 2½¢ here, while Minneapolis was up 24¢ and Kansas City 2¾¢.

Deferred deliveries, while averaging higher, held within narrow limits and finished unchanged to 4¢ higher. Corn was unchanged to 4¢ higher, and rye 4¢ higher.

Basis of wheat here was headed by a cash house which sold July corn on a selling order, and the advance, and outside trade was not sufficiently large to absorb the difference.

Trade in rye was mainly of a local character and the range of prices the smallest in some time.

Lard was easier early with hogs and larger receipts than expected, rallied quickly and closed 5¢ higher. Ribs, after a slight rally, eased off 1¢ closed 7¢ higher to 2¢ lower. A good demand prevailed for cash meats. For May contracts were 2,500,000 lbs lard. Prices follow:

The New York Times

New York, May 2.—[Special]—Signs of diminished interest in the stock market were visible enough today. Although prices were generally higher, the advances of a point or more were scattered, spasmodic and plainly a consequence of professional activities. The bond market was also strong, with a couple of foreign loans going into new high ground.

The cotton market moved under the double influence of adverse weather conditions and the oil-burner supply and demand position. Monday's government estimate of world consumption and "carry-over" awoke the market and the result was today's violent advance, carrying cotton prices $6.0027.00 a bale above last week's closings.

Sterling Advance Impressive. In sterling exchange today's movement though neither as sudden nor as violent as the rise in cotton prices, was in its way equally impressive. The high rate, represented only .4% rise over Monday, but it marked a valuation not reached since March 1, when it went to the season's high point of $4.445.

Two interesting sidelights on the economic drift were contributed today. Dun's average of commodity prices showed for last month the largest increase of any month since October, the average on May 1 being the highest since April, 1921. The general average of prices now is 4% above the low level of the recent reaction, reached July 1 last year; 2% below the period's high level, reached on May 1, 1920; and 39 per cent above the average of Aug. 1, 1914.

Large Exports to Europe.

The commerce department issued a report on our foreign trade in March by countries of origin or destination. The matter of particular interest was our trade with Europe. Our exports to that continent in March were the largest of any month since October; our imports from Europe the largest since September, 1920. But the ratio of increase in the exports is the greater, so that the March surplus of exports over imports, $9,000,000, exceeds substantially that of any of the four preceding months.

American Interests Hit by Big Failure in Cuba

Washington, D. C., May 2.—American and other financial interests in Havana are taking effective measures to control the situation arising in connection with the failure of the Cuban branch of the German bank house of P. Umann. Liabilities are estimated at $9,111,000, with deposits at $6,788,000 and loans at $5,433,000, chiefly from the United States, while assets after making proper discounts are conservatively estimated by American bank representatives at $12,110,000, including the Norman Oil company of Mexico, in which Umann's interests are said to total $2,240,000.

EW, if any, large investors can give the amount of time and specialized ability to the study and handling of their investments that we can and do give to the smallest accounts we handle. There is service of the most complete and desirable kind behind our statement.

What Is the Secret of Peggy's Fatal Charm?

PEGGY JOYCE as a show girl. Is her magnetic charm apparent in this picture?

IN STREET DRESS.
Would you pass her by without turning to look?

A PROFILE. Rather statuesque expression, but it reveals an abundance of lovely blonde hair. Is that her secret of charm?

NOT SO CHIC as some of Peggy's other poses and she looks a trifle older. Still, a pose like this may be her most charming.

UNITED STATES TREASURY BURNS. This picture shows the fire that wrecked the roof of Uncle Sam's financial center last February. The blaze this morning destroyed the new superstructure on the roof and heavily damaged the central part of the roof of the main structure.

MELANCHOLY. Peggy looks in this pose like a clinging vine. Does your heart beat pick up?

LOOKING FOR HOLDUP MEN. Louis Kirschbaum, jeweler, 6030 South Halsted Street, victim of $8,000 diamond robbery, examining pictures at detective bureau.

IDENTIFYING GENTLE BANDITS. Marie Lynch, left, Chief of Detectives Hughes, and Eleanor Rigsby, identifying youths who robbed them. Against the wall are James Perkins Jr., Cornelius Drapanes, Malcolm Holman and James Miller.

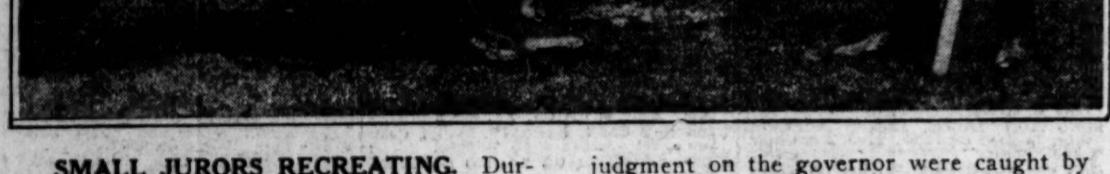

HARRY GREB, light heavyweight, who will meet Gene Tunney, the title holder, this month. Carpenter may fight the winner.

POLICEMAN FIRE HERO. Mrs. Katie Kevapit, with her children, Otto, 5, and Gustav, 7, rescued by Policeman E. H. Curran from a fire at 1812 Fisk street. Curran, with a bandaged hand, fought a prisoner he arrested soon afterward, holding him with the assistance of several cab drivers.

"THE BACHELOR DADDY," AND HIS "CHILDREN." Thomas Meighan, at the left, with the five youngsters who comprised the principal part of his supporting cast in the Bachelor Daddy.

SMALL JURORS RECREATING. During a game of baseball after recess was called yesterday, three of the men who will sit in judgment on the governor were caught by the camera. They are William Barnes, Stanley Field and George Martin.

FLYING BOAT BREAKS CHICAGO-NEW ORLEANS RECORD. Time, 13 hours and 10 minutes. The Isle de Luzon which made the trip with the De Soto. Back row: R. J. Ramig, mechanic; Capt. P. A. Townsend, manager. Sitting: R. W. Pears and G. R. Benedict, pilots.

BANDITS' VICTIM. Mrs. H. H. Lampert, 1046 Catalpa avenue, ambushed in home and robbed of $10,000 in money and jewelry.

ONE SLAIN, ONE SHOT in feud at Erie and Bickerdike streets early today when police fired on Angelo Beimel, who had killed Joe Arlotti. Photodiagram shows how shooting took place.
